Sovetskaya Estoniya, No 234, 4 Oct 49

On 3 October, weather in the republic suddenly grew worse. Heavy, steady rain fell everywhere. Along the west and southwest shores, the intensity of the winds increased by 8-9 balls. In Tallin, Tyuri, Pyarnu, Rauga, Kyayna, and Khaapsalu, 12-18 millimeters of precipitation fell in the morning. Night temperature was 5-10 degrees.

Beginning with 4 October, in connection with the incoming cold air wave, a general temperature drop is expected in the republic. The cool weather will continue for at least 3 days. Varying cloudiness to complete clearing is expected at night. During the day, short local showers will occur and the intensity of the wind will decrease sharply.
